Happy New Year!

With July 1 being the start of a new school year, numerous projects are underway.

The students may have left the building, but the administrative staff continues to work through the summer tending to the needs of the school district both inside and out.

Projects include revising the BCS Student Code of Conduct, developing an initiative for data-driven instruction and continuing with the strategic planning process.

Code of Conduct

PK-12 Principal Mr. Michael Graney collaborated with faculty, staff and students to revise the Code of Conduct that has been approved by the Board of Education. "We have included additional Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) regulations that will go into effect in the 2013-14 school year," said Mr. Graney.

"Revising the Code of Conduct has been an annual event and we will continue to follow the New York State Safe Schools Against Violence in Education (SAVE) Legislation."

Data-Driven Instruction Initiative

Mr. Graney explained that school staff will be collecting data from the interim assessments that will be given to students during the school year and will analyze the data to improve instruction. (More detailed information can be found in the Fall 2012 and Spring 2013 issues of the Eagle Eye, which are available on the BCS website - <http://www.boltoncsd.org>.)

Strategic Planning

The Bolton Central School District Board of Education's Strategic Planning Committee continues to work with Mr. Mike Marcelle, consultant, to gather information that will be provided to the BOE and administration at an August BOE working retreat.

The Strategic Planning Committee, comprised of school and community members, was created to develop a blueprint for the future that includes strategic objectives, action plans and the measurement tools needed to chart progress. An initial orientation meeting was held in April followed by focus group meetings throughout May. A focus group liaison meeting is scheduled for later in July.

Ultimately, the Board of Education's goal is to ensure the best education for children enrolled at Bolton Central School in a safe and supportive environment that promotes achievement and engagement, best preparing them for their post high school lives. This is why the district is looking ahead and involving everyone in developing solutions.

In addition to administrative projects, work on the capital project is now in high gear.

Capital Project

As a result of the Board of Education and administration receiving a lot of feedback and input on the condition of Bolton Central School's lower athletic field, work was scheduled to renovate the field which was not level, had a poor drainage system, and grass that was not consistent.

Originally in 2007-08, voters in the Bolton Central School District approved funds to be added to the budget to renovate the lower athletic field. At the same time, the Facilities Committee was also discussing other district needs. In 2008-09, the Facilities Committee began the process to get approval to replace the roof on the original 1928 portion of the school building, along with other infrastructure work.

Sod will be placed on top of the newly refurbished level playing surface. The new soccer surface will compliment the existing baseball diamond allowing multiple activities to return to this field.

While the area used by soccer and physical education is being resurfaced, the baseball infield area will not be affected by this project. While the BOE's Facilities Committee continues to explore better options for the baseball program, the baseball configuration will remain the same as it has been. The work will be done during the summer and is projected to be completed by the fall.

The major aspects of the capital project, however, include replacement of the roof on the original 1928 portion of the school building, repairs and improvement to the cupola, masonry work on the front of the building and replacement of the roof surface. This work also entails structural improvements to the roof's support systems as well as flashing and trim work. Improvements to the boiler and electrical service rooms along with improving drainage to those areas is also underway.

"Addressing these physical needs secures the infrastructure of the building," said Superintendent Raymond Ciccarelli. Mr. Graney added, "The roof repairs eliminate potential issues, which could cause disruptions to classroom work."
